	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> exchange on different systems (Austria, Switzerland, Germany) getting to know new teaching material (apps) presentation an possible usage of Apps. comparison of usage in different countries digital media/apps for language learning teaching methodology actual use of apps/tools making it easy for teachers to get involved with new technologies exchange of different ways to teach refugees and impact on the way of using mobile devices language-sensible teaching in non-language subjects best practice exchange sharing of different learning-systems in different countries experiences and practical work language sensitive education output talks between the presentations, where you could go deeper into discussion and towards understanding

19. Concerning the content of the meeting, I have following ideas, wishes and suggestions:

- More work on concrete settings (exchange with the partners about teaching scenarios).
- Establish an evaluation of digital materials for language learning (by various institutions) e.g. giving points
- practical insight is always very welcome
- exchange of different ways to teach refugees and impact on the way of using mobile devices
- practical insight is always welcome
- some presentations did not give what the program promised, e.g. on Tuesday morning XYZ did not give a “practical input on achievement of refugees”, but a very basic talk about Swiss school system
- a visit of a school, participation in a concrete lesson, then connecting with theory
- materials for my work at school and for further-education courses for teachers
- Days are very long – shorten them to give more time to bilateral discourses.

20. Further Comments:

- Focusing on language learning in the dual training system in a more vocational context.
- Comparing materials and statistics on how to integrate refugees into the labour market, successful + also less successful models hopefully with experts working in this field
- career guidance
- career guidance
- e-portfolio
- Lesson plans to address career guidance would be helpful. A conference needs a clear speaker who leads the conference: for me it was not clear, whether this was our host (Austria) or the project coordinator (Germany).
- Very good work of the preparing team. Thank you very much!
- To take the competence of partners seriously.
- The hosts are always very busy. How could it be organized, that they can join the after work program better?
- Who is the leader? One or somehow more people?
